

Dear Hiring Team,

I'm writing to express my interest in the nay player position within your ensemble. As a dedicated musician with years of experience performing traditional and contemporary repertoire, I've developed a deep connection to the expressive range of the nay and its unique ability to bring emotional depth to any musical setting.

My background includes performing in orchestras, cultural events, studio recordings, and collaborative projects with artists across various genres. I'm comfortable adapting to different musical environments, reading notation, improvising when needed, and contributing creatively to group arrangements. Beyond technical skill, I bring professionalism, reliability, and a genuine passion for preserving and evolving the musical traditions associated with the nay.

I would welcome the opportunity to contribute my sound and experience to your team. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of working together.

Warm regards,

Rebecca Abou Jaoude
