

Hour Aside is a facilitated team experience that uses drawing as a tool for connection.

Through a series of simple guided exercises, colleagues engage with one another in a different way. The workshop creates space for conversation, laughter and genuine interaction, helping strengthen workplace relationships, improve communication and boost team morale.

Whether delivered online or in person, Hour Aside offers a refreshing alternative to traditional team-building activities, creating the conditions for greater engagement, connection and a stronger sense of belonging.

Since 2018, we have delivered creative experiences for thousands of participants worldwide, working with some of the world's leading organisations, including Google, Spotify, KPMG, BlackRock and Facebook.

An Hour Aside is time your team will thank you for.
